Drumond Park's new multi-award-winning PICKIN' CHICKENS (rrp £19.99, age 4+) is yet another much loved, instant-action table-top game from Drumond Park. Children take it in turns to spin the chickens' 'pasture', and when it stops each child picks a chicken coop to look under, and depending on the colour of the chicken revealed, takes a model chicken of the same colour and puts it on one of the 'chicken' spaces on their card. But beware, Mr Fox pops up randomly from his tree-trunk lair like a jack-in-the-box – and gives everyone a shock! When he appears, each player instantly loses one of his or her chickens – unless they hold the Farmer card, which protects them from the fox! Game play continues until someone collects four model chickens – and is declared the winner.

CRAZY CLAW (rrp £22.99, age 4+) is a brilliantly loony new arcade-style game for the smaller members of the group – and the grown-ups can join in too! From the start, everyone gets involved by pounding on the paddles to get the coloured balls bouncing and bubbling about within the box. Then each player operates the grabber in turn, trying to capture one of the bouncing balls, to see what picture token is inside. The winner is the first person to collect three tokens matching the images on their picture card.

New STOOPIDO (rrp £17.99, age 8+) is a downright silly game the whole family will absolutely love! The point of the game play is the opposite of what you think – the winner is the person who is the only player left without a full face covered with quirky colourful eyes, ears, noses, hats and foreheads! Everyone dons plastic glasses, the dice is rolled, and if Nose, Eyes, Hat or Ears come up, the players race to hang the relevant colourful cardboard pieces on whichever player they choose. As play proceeds, everyone gets loaded up with ever more comical items, for a totally mis-matched look. The winner is 'the last man standing' – the only player left with a gap or gaps on their glasses.

DIG IN! (rrp £19.99, age 8+) is a hugely enjoyable, brand new table-top game, perfect for family play. In this fun and surprisingly challenging game, players take turns to frantically sift through the big white Dig In! bowl with both hands, to try to find the exact six differently coloured pieces (dog, plane, rabbit, boat, scissors, starfish, teddy etc.) they need to fill their picture card... in just 15 seconds flat. If no one succeeds first time round, everyone 'digs in' together, using one hand each. It's a unique and spell-binding formula, ensuring hours of stimulating fun for the players, who are desperate to be the first to fill their card! This game makes finding your keys in the bottom of your handbag seem easy!

You may also like... OG ON THE BOG (rrp £22.99, age 5+) is an outrageous electronic action game which both boys and girls absolutely love! The storyline is that a group of children are creeping up on Og while he sits on his bog in the forest. They are trying to steal his loo rolls... stand by for the most disgraceful farts and gruesome grunts! Players must carefully lift a roll from the gnarled stick outside, but wait for it – if the bog explodes they have to give back two of the rolls they have collected... and start all over again!

Drumond Park's Adult, Family and Children's board and action games and magic sets are widely available from most major toy shop chains and independents, plus many department stores, multiple grocery outlets, and catalogue and online traders.
